

Private Lessons

Private Lessons are available with Eastman Community Music School instructors and interns on all instruments and in voice, composition, and jazz improvisation. For most instrumentalists, the recommended age for beginning private study is age seven. Pianists and violinists may start at a younger age; for vocalists, the recommended age is about ten.

Classes and Ensembles

UNIT SYSTEM

All classes and ensembles have been assigned a number of units. ECMS units are similar to credits but don't carry college credit. The cost for each unit is $70 per semester. For example, most theory courses carry four units and cost $280 per semester.

DISCOUNT PROGRAM

The ECMS discount program has been developed to encourage those students taking private lessons to enhance their musical education by enrolling in classes and ensembles. Each unit you register for will be discounted at an increasing rate, until you reach 6 units. From that point on, each additional unit is free! (See chart.)

The discount program applies only to students taking private lessons. The program is applied on an individual basis; lessons or units taken by one student cannot be used to make another student (such as a family member) eligible for discounts. The discount applies only to classes and ensembles, not to additional private lessons.

ECMS Discount Program

With private lessons, after six units, take all the classes and ensembles you want for no additional cost!
