

How to connect to UR_Connected from Windows 7

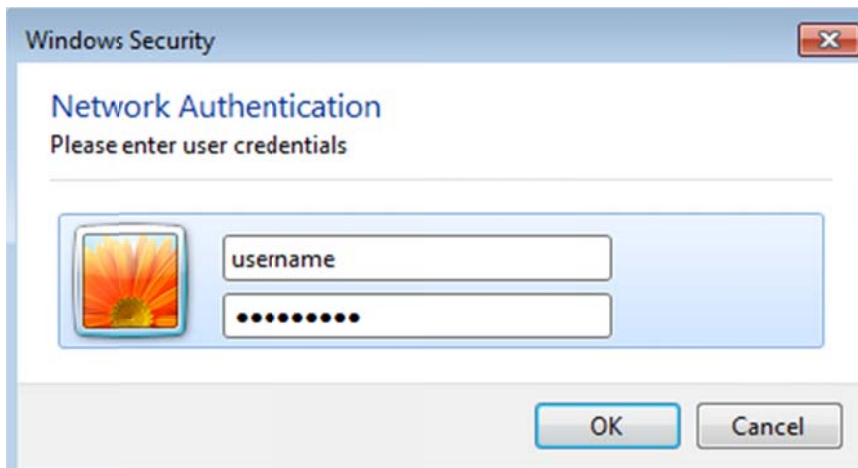

Click the Windows 7 wireless manager icon in the system tray.

Click on the UR_Connected network connection and then click Connect.

When prompted for authentication, enter your Active Directory username and password and click OK.

A Windows Security Alert will prompt you to validate the server certificate. You will need to click Connect twice in order to add the certificate to your computer.

You will then see a window that shows you are connecting to UR_Connected.

After the connection completes, you will be prompted to select a location for the network. Select Public network. If you click on the network manager again, you will see that you have now been connected to the UR_Connected network. Click Disconnect to disconnect from the network.
