Cambridge Education Group
Eastman Intensive English Program

International students comprise c. 25% of the student population at Eastman. Some of the students we accept have not yet had significant exposure to English in an academic setting. For that reason, we offer year-round courses in English as a Second Language (ESL), as well as a summer program, which may be required of some students before enrolling in degree coursework. Students for whom the course is not required are also welcome to enroll if they wish. The summer course has the added benefit of providing international students with some time to get adjust to living in the United States, and to get settled in Rochester.
