

Typical MA in Music Leadership Costs

Direct Costs

Currently, students in the MA in Music Leadership program are not eligible to apply for Federal Loans to cover their educational costs. We are working with the US Department of Education to make this possible. However, students may be eligible to apply for a private loan. For further information, please visit our Financial Aid Office Loan Information Page (<https://www.esm.rochester.edu/financialaid/loans/>).

International students are charged an international student fee of approximately $50 each semester.

- All students are required to have health insurance. If you are not covered under your parent(s) or your own health insurance, then add $2,940 for the University Health Insurance.
- New graduate students have a one-time orientation fee of $292.
- All organists are charged an organ fee of $270 per semester.
- According to the Department of Education's Student Financial Aid Handbook, "The Cost of Attendance (COA) is an estimate of a student's educational expenses for a period of enrollment". A student's COA is used to determine financial aid eligibility. The basic components of an Eastman student's COA include tuition and fees, books, room, board, and miscellaneous (travel and personal) expenses.
- The COA may be adjusted on an individual basis for dependent care, study abroad program, and loan fees. These adjustments will only increase a student's loan eligibility. All adjustments must be supported by documentation. Students who wish to be considered for a COA adjustment for any reason should contact the Financial Aid Office to discuss both the changes and the additional loan eligibility that may result.
