

04.13.08.05 English As A Second Language Probation

Description

04.13.08.05 English As A Second Language Probation

English as a Second Language (ESL) courses at the undergraduate level are considered an integral part of a student's humanities electives. As a result, they are included in the calculation for SAP. Students who fail ESL courses may be suspended from their studies until which time they can successfully complete an academic action plan and return to retake the course. The academic action plan may include additional intensive coursework in English and retaking the TOEFL exam in order to obtain a score designated by the Office of Academic Affairs. Failure of a second ESL course may lead to dismissal from the Eastman School of Music.
