Industrialist and philanthropist George Eastman, founder of Eastman Kodak Company, established the Eastman School of Music in 1921 as the first professional school of the University of Rochester. Through the efforts of George Eastman, Howard Hanson (Eastman Director from 1924 to 1964), and University President Rush Rhees, the Eastman School became an innovator in American music education. The vision of a music school dedicated to the highest levels of artistry and scholarship, to the broad education of young musicians within the context of a university, and to the musical enrichment and education of the greater community, is still alive and vital through the Eastman School’s numerous creative endeavors.

Today, approximately 850 students are enrolled in the Collegiate Division of the Eastman School of Music—about 500 undergraduates and 350 graduate students. They come from almost every state, and approximately 25% are from other countries. Each year about 250 students enroll, selected from approximately 2,000 applicants. They are taught by a faculty comprised of more than 160 highly regarded performers, composers, conductors, scholars, and educators. They are Pulitzer Prize winners, Grammy winners, Guggenheim Fellows, ASCAP Award recipients, published authors, recording artists, and acclaimed musicians who have performed in the world’s greatest concert halls.

Graduates of the Eastman School of Music distinguish every aspect of the musical community throughout the world, from the concert stage to the public school classroom, from the recording studio to collegiate classrooms and administrative offices. Eastman’s 10,000 alumni are noteworthy for their depth and breadth of training and experience, as well as for their willingness to assist current and graduating students in pursuing their careers.
In 1921, George Eastman articulated his belief in the importance of music education: “The life of our communities in the future needs what our schools of music and of other fine arts can give them. It is impossible to buy an appreciation of music. Yet, without appreciation, without the presence of a large body of people who understand music and get enjoyment out of it, any attempt to develop the musical resources of any city is doomed to failure.”

The Eastman Community Music School, an integral part of the Eastman School of Music since its inception, offers music lessons, ensembles, classes, and workshops to community members of all ages and backgrounds. With 150 faculty members—including leading area artist-educators, collegiate faculty, and Eastman undergraduate and graduate students—ECMS serves approximately 1,500 community members during the school year and hundreds more each summer, drawing students from around the world. Many ECMS students are accepted each year to the Eastman School of Music, and all of them form a strong network of audience members, music lovers, supporters, and advocates. With a depth and breadth of offerings, from early childhood and pre-school programs to college prep and diploma programs to adult ensembles and classes, ECMS nurtures and inspires students at all levels.

George Eastman’s vision, based on the fundamental power of music and its ability to change people’s lives, remains the central focus of the Eastman School of Music’s philosophy. During the Eastman School’s 90-plus years of history, the musical world has changed immensely, and the school is challenging its students to think broadly and imaginatively about the role of music and musicians in contemporary society. Eastman students learn not only technical proficiency and artistry, but also the specialized skills and diversified experiences they will need to draw on as they take their places among a new generation of musical and cultural leaders.
Reinhild Steingröver is a professor of German at the Eastman School of Music and an affiliate professor of film studies in the Program of Film and Media Studies in the School of Arts & Sciences.

She was also awarded a Bridging Fellowship from the University to spend a semester at the George Eastman Museum’s L. Jeffrey Selznick School of Film Preservation.

Steingröver has curated live-to-picture programs for the George Eastman Museum, Rochester Institute of Technology, and the Cinematheque Berlin. In 2009, she was cocurator for the film festival in Los Angeles titled Wende Flicks: Last Films from East Germany.

Most recently, Steingröver curated the live-to-picture program Sound Utopias, a commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Bauhaus art movement, performed by the German National Jazz Youth Orchestra (BuJazzO). Steingröver earned her PhD from the University at Buffalo. In her teaching at Eastman, she has offered German language courses and an advanced course in German Romantic Poetry designed specifically for music students. Steingröver serves on the advisory committee for the Musical Arts major at Eastman, an interdisciplinary honors program. In the spring of 2020 she became the first Director of Eastman Mentoring, where she is creating programs to support the professional development of new and early career faculty members.
