Biographical Sketches

John La Montaine (b. 17 March 1920) – A native of Chicago, Illinois, John La Montaine studied composition with Bernard Rogers and Howard Hanson at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, receiving a Bachelor's degree in 1942. He also studied with Bernard Wagenaar at the Juilliard School and Nadia Boulanger at the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau. An accomplished pianist, La Montaine served with the NBC Symphony under Arturo Toscanini (1950-54) and later, served for short periods of time, in major educational institutions: Eastman School of Music (1964-5), The University of Utah, North Texas State University, and Whittier College. The compositions of John La Montaine include symphonic, chamber, ballet, opera, choral and solo works. His works have been performed by major orchestras including The National Symphony Orchestra, the Boston Symphony, The Philadelphia Orchestra, The Chicago Symphony, The New York Philharmonic, The Los Angeles Philharmonic, and the San Francisco, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestras. One of La Montaine's earliest works, the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, Op. 9, commissioned by the Ford Foundation, was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1959. Two Guggenheim fellowships followed, and commissions from the Koussevitsky Foundation, and the William Inglis Morse Trust for Music. Other honors include an award from the American Academy of Arts and Letters (1962), accompanied by a grant to record his Piano Concerto, an Eastman School Distinguished Alumni Award, and an appointment to serve in 1962 as Composer-in-Residence at the American Academy in Rome. In 1977 he was named Nixon Distinguished Scholar and holder of the Nixon chair at Whittier College. The premieres of La Montaine's three Christmas operas took place in the Washington Cathedral. The second of the operas, The Shephardes Playe, Op. 38, was televised nationally by ABC. The Joffrey Ballet created the ballet Nightwings from the score Birds of Paradise, Op. 34. The String Quartet, Op. 16 was awarded the Rheta Sosland Prize for Chamber Music. The Wilderness Journal, Symphony for Bass-Baritone, Organ and Orchestra, Op. 41 was commissioned by Mrs. Jouett Shouse and opened the second season at Kennedy Center, to celebrate the dedication of the Filene Organ. Sarah Caldwell, with the Pittsburgh Symphony, and the Pennsylvania State University Choirs presented the premiere of the Bicentennial opera, Be Glad then America, Op. 43. A documentary on the creation of the opera was televised nationally on PBS.

Paul J. Sifler (1911-2001) – Paul J. Sifler was born and lived in Ljubljana, Slovenia until emigrating to the United States at the age of eleven. Becoming an American citizen, he resided in Hollywood, California. His large body of compositions reflect this multi-cultural background. Sifler's organ and choral works brought him international recognition and his tragic work for organ, The Despair and Agony of Dachau has been performed in most of the capitals of Europe and across the United States. As an outstanding concert organist, Sifler appeared extensively both in the United States and in Europe. He gave a year-long series of historical organ recitals in St. Paul's Chapel in New York City and has appeared as a soloist in his Piano Concerto. In 1975, John La Montaine and Paul J. Sifler founded Fredonia Press, for the purpose of publishing exclusively the works of the two composers. In 1977 they extended their successful enterprise by establishing Fredonia Discs.

Provenance

The materials in this collection were collected by Paul J. Sifler and then given to the Sibley Music Library.

Scope and Content

This collection contains materials produced by John La Montaine throughout his career including sketch books, manuscripts, and published works. Some of the scores were the personal copies of La Montaine and contain his markings and corrections. Also included in the collection are recordings of his works and source materials from which the librettos of his Christmas Trilogy were constructed.

Restrictions

The collection donor, the late Paul J. Sifler, placed no restrictions on the use of the materials of the Paul J. Sifler Collection. Reproduction of its contents will, however, be provided to patrons only in accordance with the provisions of the United States Copyright Law (1976) and its revisions.

Associations

The Sibley Music Library houses the collections of many other Eastman School of Music alumni composers. Included among them are the collections of: Wayne Barlow ('37), Gordon Binkerd ('41), Alexander Courage ('41), Homer Todd Keller ('37, '38), Gardner Read ('36, '37) and Malcolm Seagrave ('62).

- Sub-series B: Piano Duets
- Sub-series C: Piano with Orchestra
- Sub-series D: Chamber Music

- Sub-series C: Sketches

Series 3: Evolution of Concerto IV
