Biographical Sketch

Photograph from Joseph Scianni Collection, Box 12, Folder 4.

Joseph C. Scianni (1928–2018) was a composer in both the classical and jazz realms as well as an active jazz pianist. He was born on October 6, 1928, in Memphis, TN; his parents, Giuseppe (Joseph) and Vincenza Giovanni (née Cortese) Scianni, were both first-generation Americans. Even at a young age, Scianni was an accomplished pianist; while attending Central High School, he often sat in on piano with the Christian Brothers College Dance Band and the Tommy Meadows Orchestra, the latter being a local band largely comprised of high school and college students. He earned a bachelor’s degree in biology from Southwestern University (now Rhodes College) in 1949. He had minored in music, however, and his skills on the piano won him a fellowship to the Eastman School of Music for graduate studies. He received a master’s degree in 1953 and, after completing military service as a composer and arranger for the 3rd Army band, earned a DMA in composition in 1959.

Dr. Scianni began his career as a producer with Columbia Records and later began arranging and writing music for several recording outfits. In 1966, he left the industry and accepted an appointment to teach composition at New York College of Music, now part of NYU. In 1968, his teaching responsibilities expanded to include directing the university’s newly organized jazz ensemble. In 1971, Dr. Scianni joined the faculty of Staten Island Community College, which was reorganized in 1976 as the College of Staten Island. During his tenure at the College, Dr. Scianni was instrumental in the design and implementation of two music programs, namely the American Studies Popular Music program (1980) and the BA and BS in Music (1983). In addition to his academic career, Dr. Scianni recorded and performed as a jazz pianist; he founded the Joseph Scianni Trio, playing with Don Cherry, David Izenzon, Pharoah Sanders, and J. C. Moses. Later in his life, he made recordings in 1997 with Mark Whitecage, Tomas Ulrich, Dominic Duval, and Jay Rosen. He was also an active arranger, conductor, and producer for studio recordings, the most notable of which was his work with Glenn Gould.

Joseph Scianni died on October 30, 2018, at St. Joseph’s Medical Center in Yonkers, NY. He was survived by his wife and three children.

Scope of Content

The Joseph C. Scianni Collection consists of both manuscripts and published editions of his compositions as well as press materials, photographs, letters, concert programs, teaching documents, documents pertaining to his career in education, and professional and personal recordings. The programs and recordings reflect his career as both a composer and a performer.

Provenance

The Joseph Scianni Collection was a gift to the Sibley Music Library from Dr. Scianni’s widow, Maria Scianni. The library received the materials in March 2019.

Restrictions on use

While there are no restrictions on access to the Joseph Scianni collection, the provisions of the United States Copyright Law (1976) and its revisions do apply.

Associations

RTWSC holds a large body of collections that document the professional activities and careers of Eastman School of Music composer graduates and faculty. Others among this number include the collections of John La Montaine (BM 1942), Eugene Kurtz (BM 1947, MM 1949), P. Peter Sacco (MM 1954, DMA 1958), Louis Angelini (MM 1960, PhD 1968), Louis Karchin (BM 1973), and Michael Isaacson (PhD 1979). The collection of Professor Rayburn Wright (BM 1943), a trombonist and composer/arranger who worked extensively in the jazz idiom, is particularly notable among these associations given Dr. Scianni’s work as a jazz musician and studio arranger.

Additionally, the department holds a small but growing number of collections that reflect the work of prominent jazz artists, including the professional papers of the renowned pianist and educator Marian McPartland, the distinguished trombonist and composer Bob Brookmeyer, and the local composer-arranger Mike Arena. The department also holds a collection of more than 300 photographs of jazz artists, including many internationally-known performers and ensembles, which were taken and collected by Hal Schuler, a local photographer and jazz enthusiast.

The Ron Carter Audio Archive and Collection, a substantive body of recorded jazz music, may also be of interest; this archive is held by Sibley Music Library’s Recordings/Reserves department.
DESCRIPTION OF SERIES

The Joseph Scianni Collection is organized by content, size, and format. Due to the nature in which the collection was received, considerable efforts were made to house the collection in a cohesive matter; however, the various sizes of items belonging to the same series posed limitations to the physical arrangement, and the amount of content and numerous duplicates found within the collection created challenges. Accordingly, documents that were originally kept with related items (e.g., letters and notes found with the pertinent scores) have largely remained as such in this organization.

The materials are arranged into five series, with the following sub-series as outlined below:

Series 1: Manuscripts

This series is comprised of drafts, fair copies, manuscript reproductions, and publishers’ proofs of works composed by Joseph Scianni throughout the scope of his compositional career. Scores and parts (e.g., full performing sets of parts) are included. Items in this series are organized into sub-series based on performing forces. Within each sub-series, the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

- Sub-series A: Piano
- Sub-series B: Lead sheets and jazz combos
- Sub-series C: Songs
- Sub-series D: Large ensemble
- Sub-series E: Works for solo instrument
- Sub-series F: Sketches

Series 2: Published music

This series contains published imprints of works by Scianni as well as a limited selection of published music by other composers. Within each sub-series, the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

- Sub-series A: Published music by Scianni
- Sub-series B: Published music by other composers

Series 3: Papers

This series is comprised of a variety of documents that chronicle Dr. Scianni’s professional and personal activities. These materials have been organized into the following six sub-series according to document type.
Sub-series A: Press and publicity
Sub-series B: Concert programs
Sub-series C: Correspondence
Sub-series D: Professional papers
Sub-series E: Photographs
Sub-series F: Scrapbook items

Series 4: Recordings

This sub-series comprises Dr. Scianni’s library of sound recordings of his own compositions and arrangements as well as solo and ensemble performances by Dr. Scianni. The vinyl recordings and the majority of the CD recordings are commercially-produced. Each format has been assigned to its own sub-series.

- Sub-series A: Vinyl recordings
- Sub-series B: Cassette recordings
- Sub-series C: Compact Disc recordings

Series 5: Oversized

This series has been created for the ease of filing and is comprised of documents that require special housing consideration on grounds of their oversized dimensions. These materials have been arranged into four sub-series according to material type.

- Sub-series A: Oversized papers
- Sub-series B: Orchestral and large ensemble manuscripts
- Sub-series C: Big band manuscripts
- Sub-series D: Oversized library
